A Message from the President

Events with our cars are certainly at the center of our club. Thanks Marc for the hot dogs and ice cream at your Washington Dairy Queen; the daytime event brought out lots of folks to socialize and share their cars—I saw several folks I haven't seen in a while! And the Lantern Hill visit in late June, home to member Bob Teller, reminded me of the fine Model T that you saw at the Spring Show and see again in this month's Road Map. So, if you can, take advantage of the events.

Thanks also to Bob Abbott for the informative interview that Vince had (at the July meeting) on the Herb Singe auction. We learned a bit about how the auction company works.

And, speaking of the value of our meetings, Bob Hedderick shared news about the new NJ law that permits us to transfer on death (TOD) our vehicle(s) without going through probate process or a will. The form and process is simple; it is posted in the NJ DMV website.

Now I am in need of help in three ways: Nominations Committee, Spring Meet Judging Chairperson, and Property Manager. I have listed those in priority order. The Nominations Committee needs to be named by me in August, has three members, and offers the opportunity to help identify the leadership for the club. Knowledge of club members and the ability to be somewhat persuasive are helpful attributes of a nominations committee member. See/call/email/text me if you are willing or have questions.

On Spring Meet Judging Chairperson and/or Property Manager—again see/call/email/text me!

I have heard from some of you that the hybrid meeting technique is working well. Let me know how you feel. We will be doing it again starting in September.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

So far, the Lotus is still running smoothly, but the Ford still has a long way to go. I got the rebuilt differential back from Schwalm's in Strasburg, PA on the 30th of June. Bobbi and I got it loaded into the car (it only took 3 days), in time to do the Parade in Madison. I didn't want to go too far for its first outing!

Good thing I didn't. No problem with the differential - Schwalm does a fantastic job; the installer and his helper, ...not so much.

Now, never forget to check EVERYTHING

The FIRST problem was the new flywheel rang like a bell when engaging the starter. Easily? cured by removing the rear, trans, clutch and flywheel, then spraying the back of the flywheel with Flex-Seal and then putting all back together. again.

This left a SECOND problem, a scraping noise when engaging the clutch. Another easy cure. Remove all the above stuff and open up the inside of the flywheel where the center rivets of the clutch disc were hitting the edge of the opening in the flywheel, machining the opening a little larger, then putting all back together. again. Great it's done! or maybe not.

So now a THIRD problem, a tapping sound from the transmission when the clutch is let up in neutral. I don't know if it makes the same noise in gear as I can't hear it then. The local transmission shop said it sounded like a chipped tooth. Another easy??? solution. Remove all of the above except the flywheel and clutch. See it's getting easier now! Looked inside the transmission and low and behold, NO chipped teeth to be found. Grrr!!!

ps Bobbi is not talking to me. Something about getting the grease out from under what's left of her fingernails. I just don't understand what her problem is.

In Memoriam
Obituary of Frederick William Fatzler

Frederick William Fatzler, 93, of Toms River, passed away peacefully on Monday, June 19, 2023.

Fred is survived by 3 children, 3 grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren. Fred was born on May 8, 1930, in Maplewood, NJ and graduated from Columbia High School in 1948. Fred entered the Army, serving as an MP in Germany. He married his wife Eileen in 1951. After returning home from Germany, Fred joined the Maplewood Fire Department, where he served as a Master Mechanic and ultimately earned the rank of Lieutenant. At the time of his passing, Fred was the oldest living retired Maplewood firefighter.

Fred was passionate about antique cars. He was an active and dedicated member of the Antique Automobile Club of America NJ Region (Member #575) for many years and attended weekly car shows with his wife, both judging and participating in the events. Later in life, the two helped found a new antique car club, the Tampa Bay Cruisers. Fred also had a love for bowling and traveling. His family and friends will always remember him as an outgoing, strong person.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations in Fred's honor to Hospice of New Jersey, 400 Broadacres Drive, 1st floor, Bloomfield, NJ 07003

What is Your AACAA Elevator Speech?

By Phillip Cole, AACAA National VP Publications & Membership Committee Member, pcole@wnccumc.net

I was watching a couple as they walked around my pre-war Buick. They were pointing and smiling as they went. When they got to the driver's door, I was standing there and asked with a smile, "So, you like old cars?" *

"Yes, we do!" they smiled back, and she asked, "What is it?"

"It's a 1940 Buick..." I said as I shook hands with both of them. "My name is Phillip. I'm a member of the club putting on this event." Opening the driver's door, I asked, "Want to look inside?" **

"Oh yes!" she said sliding into the driver's seat. I reached into my pocket and handed him our region's brochure and my director's card as he peered over her shoulder. **

After answering a few simple questions about the car, I suggested, "Next Saturday we're having a breakfast meeting, where you can learn about our club and its mission. Please be my guest..." ***

Notice how that conversation contains three simple parts:

* 1ST, simple questions to introduce yourself and draw their interest. It's called the "hook."

Although I admit the real hook was that '40 Buick.

 2ND, offer contact and mission information you can put into their hand.

 3RD, give them an opportunity to respond! That's the beginning of the invitation.

The above conversation is an example of my "AACAA Elevator Speech." An Elevator Speech is a less than one minute conversation where "you introduce yourself, get across a few key points, and make an encouraging connection with someone." (In other words, how long it would take you to have a brief conversation riding to the next floor in an elevator.) If we are making an effort to grow our membership, then each of us needs to work on our own version of an AACAA Elevator Speech. Over the last several years, I have found myself in many conversations around growing our membership. Inevitably, someone says, "I don't know what to say!"

After five decades of providing leadership to growing voluntary organizations, I can tell you the first step is to engage others. And a most effective tool in engaging others is word-of-mouth. If we truly want to spread our mission, then each of us needs to work up, practice and have at the ready our own AACAA Elevator Speech. Opportunities to use it will pop up all the time – you'll see!

My 1913 Model T Ford Touring By Don Davidson – NJRAACA #1686

One Saturday back in 1956 when I was 11 years old, I was walking home from the local movie theater after the afternoon matinee. As I turned a corner, along came a friend riding with his dad in their newly acquired 1913 Model T Ford Touring car. It was the first antique car I had ever seen and as you might guess it made a lasting impression. My friend quickly became my BEST friend, and from that point on, I spent as many Saturday afternoons as possible visiting him and sitting in that Model T taking in every detail. They didn't keep the car very long and for some reason I never had a chance to get a ride. However, I never forgot that car.

For the next four years, I saved up the money I earned mowing my neighbor's lawns. Not having enough to buy a brass Model T, or any other Model T for that matter, I settled on a 1930 Model A coup which ran but needed a full cosmetic restoration. I even talked my parents into giving up their single car garage so it could be kept out of the weather during the restoration, but I think that was more so the neighbors wouldn't complain about an eyesore. After driving the "restored" Model A in my senior year of High School, I sold it and looked for the elusive 1913 Model T. Again, I couldn't find anything that was within my budget, so I settled for an unrestored black radiator 1917 Model T Touring. Four years later the car was on the road and I was happily driving a Model T for the first time. In the years that followed, I had the privilege of owning and driving a variety of other antique cars that had caught my fancy including an 1899 Locomobile Steam Carriage, a couple of Stanley Steamers, a 1911 Cadillac, a 1917 Detroit Electric, and a Model A pickup, but no 1913 Model T Touring.

Back in 2012 I decided it was finally time to seriously look for the elusive 1913 Model T Touring. I spent 2 years looking on the internet every day before I found the perfect car. I was told the T had been completely restored a few years back by someone in Long Island and then sold to a second owner in California, after which it was bought by the present owner in Canada. It is one of my most favorite antique cars I have owned, very reliable, easy to drive, and ready for a trip by the simple turn of the manual starter crank mounted at the front of the car. It would be several years before Henry would offer an electric starter on his Model T. My car is one of the 330,000 Model T's that were produced during the first 5 years of production. 1913 was the last year the Model T was assembled one at a time by a single crew of workers. In 1914, Henry introduced his famous assembly line which at its peak produced more than 10 times that amount in just one year. You may have noticed my car is painted a dark blue rather than the traditional Model T black. This is correct for 1913 as the black was standardized in 1914 as this was the only paint and color that Henry found could dry fast enough to keep up with the new assembly line.

The car is powered by a four cylinder 20 HP engine with a two speed planetary transmission. The three pedals on the floor control the shifting of the transmission, the braking system, and reverse. There are no pumps needed for the engine. The fuel is gravity fed to the carburetor, the cooling water is circulated through the engine and radiator by the thermosyphon principal (hot water naturally rises) and the oil lubrication is by a splash system created by the connecting rods and flywheel dipping into the oil in the oil pan. The throttle is controlled by the lever under the right side of the steering wheel while the left lever is for manual adjustment of the spark timing. Its top speed is perhaps 45 miles per hour but because of its crude suspension I feel most comfortable in the 25 – 35 mph range. The headlights are fueled by acetylene gas generated by water dripping onto carbide powder in a special cylindrical tank mounted on the left running board. When needed, the headlights, the two dash mounted kerosene sidelights and kerosene taillight must be lit by a match. As for polishing all that brass, I spend about 6 hours at the beginning of each season and then keep the brass covered when not showing the car. That with a few touch ups now and again has seems to do the trick.

In all, I have totally enjoyed driving the T over the past 9 years. It may not always be able to keep up with modern traffic, and it may not be suitable to drive on major highways, but it is a great way to enjoy the country side, and a great way to meet new friends.

Points

I'm pleased to post points totals for the first half of the 2023 point's season which runs from December 1, 2022, through November 30, 2023. Included in this report is everyone that has more than 100 points. Points for committee chairs for non-event specific positions are included in this report. Event specific points are calculated as part of the record for the individual event. Attendance at the AACA annual meeting in Williamsburg is included. Interestingly, I have no details for any of our members attendance at any other National events. Remember, if you want points for attending a Nation event, it is your responsibility to let me know where you went and what you did (show car, judge, judging school, etc.).

Oil Viscosity Part 2

Last month we introduced the topic of oil viscosity: its definition, its importance in protecting our engines through all kinds of outside ambient temperatures, and the interpretation of the viscosity numbers, from 0 through 60. We closed that article with this important question: “What viscosity oil should I use in my classic car?”

If you're reading this, it's a fair presumption that you're an AACA member who owns one or more AACA-eligible cars. Those vehicles could be as new as a 1998 model year, or cars 100 years old or older, and everything in between of course. First and foremost, if you are unsure what viscosity you should be using, always consult the vehicle manufacturer's owner's manual or similar for their recommendation. The manufacturer which engineered your vehicle knows best which viscosity should be used. Keep in mind that I am NOT talking about the API service quality rating, which is the letter “S” followed by a 2nd letter, a series which began with “SA” and is currently at “SN”. (This will be a topic for a future Ramblings.) For now we are sticking with a discussion of the viscosity, whether it's a straight weight like SAE 30, or a multi-grade like 10W-30.

Problems arise when you don't have access to that information, or the recommended viscosity is not readily available, or if the engine is very worn. If you were to ask me that question about any one particular vehicle, I might first need the answers to some probing questions. How long have you owned the car? Have you ever changed the oil, and if you did, what did you use? If the vehicle is new to you, do you know what the previous owner used? What is the overall mechanical condition of the engine? Has it ever been rebuilt? Are you having issues such as oil leakage, oil consumption, slow cranking in cold weather, engines noises with a warm engine, and similar? If it is consuming oil, how many miles per quart? Do you drive your car year-round, including in cold winter weather near the freezing mark?

The answers to these questions would help me determine if there would be any benefit to “adjusting” the viscosity a bit from factory spec. Older engines were built to looser tolerances than today's engines. We touched on that a bit last month when I stated that my modern cars use 0W-20 oil, which is so thin I wouldn't think of using it in any classic car. If the engine in your jalopy has never been rebuilt, or was rebuilt a long time ago, or consumes some oil, it could be prudent to try a heavier (thicker) oil. For example, if the service manual states that 10W-30 is called for, you might try a 10W-40. Don't make a very bit jump away from the starting point. I wouldn't recommend switching from a 5W-20 to a 20W-50 for example. Try it and see if the oil consumption improves, and make sure that it's not straining to crank in cold weather, which puts a lot of pressure on your battery.

Another factor to consider is the situation where the factory recommended oil is not readily available. My 1967 Alfa Romeo owner's manual calls for 20W-40 oil, which I've never found. I use 20W-50, which is slightly heavier (thicker) at operating temperatures, and frankly, it's probably a better choice than the 20W-40. With the 20W-50, I have no cranking issues with a cold engine, and the engine consumes no oil.

1967 Alfa Romeo owners manual

PART	Classification	Recommended commercial equivalents
		AGIP	SHELL
Engine *	SAE 20 W/40 API MS	F.1 Supermotoroil Multigrade 20 W/40	X-100 Multigrade 20 W/40
	* For steady temperatures below 0°C (32°F) we advise the use of	F.1 Supermotoroil Multigrade 10 W/40	Super Motor Oil

If you don't know what the manufacturer recommended, and/or you have been using a particular viscosity oil with no issues at all, no burning, leaking, or untoward noises, then I would just as soon say “if it ain't broke, don't fix it!”. In other words, keep using what so far has been acceptable to you and to the car. As a final suggestion for now, remember that we have many experienced and talented people throughout the AACA. I would search for someone who owned a similar car and solicit their input. You can bring up the topic at a Regional meeting, a car show, or by using the forums at the AACA.org website.

Transfer On-Death Beneficiary

Thanks to Bob Hedderick, at the July 6th meeting, the members of the NJAACA were informed of a new law in the State of New Jersey (S906) which allows registered NJ car owners to designate a “transfer on-death beneficiary” to receive ownership of the vehicle upon the death of the last surviving owner. Gov. Murphy signed the legislation (S906) into law in 2022. On 3/24/2022, the Bill passed Both Houses (32-0) and the change became effective as of May 18, 2023. A copy of this form can be found on the following page. Below is the Press Release from the NJ Motor Vehicle Commission:

Simply put, you can designate a person to own your car upon your death, the form must be completed and notarized in advance. The car will no longer be considered part of an estate when you die. No letters of administration will be required for transferring ownership of the vehicle. The completed TOD form, should be held by the owner and be presented by the beneficiary, along with other required documents (i.e. the title), after the car owner’s death. The transfer does not take effect until either the death of the owner or the death of the last surviving owner if there are co-owners of the vehicle. This simplifies the transfer of ownership upon death, thus bypassing any lengthy probate court process. If no beneficiary survives the death of the owner, then the car would belong to the estate of the deceased owner. This bill is modeled on a Delaware statute, 21 Del. C. sec. 2304.

Owners of Motor Vehicles in New Jersey Can Now Designate a Transfer on Death (TOD) Beneficiary TRENTON – The New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission (NJMVC) today announced that registered owners of a motor vehicle may now designate a transfer on death (TOD) beneficiary to receive ownership of the vehicle upon the death of the last surviving owner.

Upon designation, the vehicle will not be considered part of an estate and no letters of administration will be required for transferring ownership of the vehicle. This can simplify matters regarding the transfer of ownership upon death, bypassing a possibly lengthy probate court process.

By completing the Transfer on Death Beneficiary Designation form, an individual whose motor vehicle is titled in New Jersey may designate a beneficiary to receive ownership of the vehicle upon their death, subject to the rights of all lien holders. A completed form should be held by the owner and must be presented by the beneficiary, along with other required documentation, after the death of the owner.

The transfer does not take effect until the death of the owner, or the death of the last surviving owner if there are co-owners of the vehicle.

This change is now in effect and authorized by legislation (S906) signed into law (P.L.2022, c.13) by Governor Phil Murphy in May 2022.

Customers can access the required form and learn more about the transfer on death (TOD) beneficiary process by visiting the Transferring Vehicle Ownership webpage at the NJMVC website.

TRANSFER ON DEATH BENEFICIARY DESIGNATION N.J.S.A. 39:3-30.1b

This form is used to add a transfer on death beneficiary.

An individual whose motor vehicle is titled in New Jersey may designate a beneficiary to receive ownership of a vehicle upon their death. The vehicle will not be considered part of the estate and therefore no letters of administration are required for transfer. The transfer does not take effect until the death of the owner, or death of last surviving owner if there are co-owners. This form is to be held by the vehicle owner and presented by the beneficiary, with the title, death certificate and Application for Certificate of Ownership after the death of the owner. Liens noted on the decedent's title shall be paid before a new title is issued unless the lien on the title is being transferred. Contact your lending institution for more information.

Program #2: Interview of Bob Abbott Herb Singe Collection Auction

Vince: What got you involved in the hobby?

Bob: I was a kid; I was interested in my grandfather's car and eventually bought my own.

Vince: When did you get your start with Herb?

Bob: 1999. I met Herb in 1994 on the London-Brighton Run. I polished lamps and Herb needed that, so I filled in. Herb ran a printing press and offered me a job.

Vince: Were you full-time in Herb's Museum?

Bob: No, part-time. I helped Herb with mechanics, took care of the cars- I am a handyman.

Vince: How many people were there to run the museum?

Bob: Just me. 15 years

Vince: The family worked with several auctions. What's the process?

Bob: Herb knew quite a few people at the auction houses. For the auction house, the buyer pays a percentage of the price of a car and so does the seller; this is negotiable.

Vince: I'm surprised it wasn't in Hillside- how did stuff get moved to Rhode Island?

Bob: The Auction House was helpful; they came to appraise the vehicles, cataloged everything, and they packed and transported stuff. There were 35 pre-1935 cars. They made it easy and there was no damage to any of the cars. It was a headache to get some into the trailers because some of the cars didn't run. For large car collections, you need the VIN #s, make, model, and titles.

Vince: There are many cars left; what's going to happen to them?

Bob: Some were sold on internet auctions, 35 went to RI.

Vince: There is still plenty of stuff in the museum- what's going to happen?

Bob: Another auction is coming via the internet. There are 400 lots of stuff aside from the cars in RI. Family wants to empty everything.

Audience Question 1: What happened to the scooters?

Bob: They're still there. A friend of the family will take some.

Audience Question 2: what about bicycles & pedal cars?

Bob: they're still there.

Audience question 3: There were things lent to America on Wheels Museum- what happened to those items?

Bob: They're still there; the family is still lending them out.

Audience Comment 1: Always go to private collections because you never know when you won't be able to anymore.

Audience Question 4: How did some of the "Oddball lots" get put together?

Bob: The head guy at the auction house decided what goes where. Some went for little to nothing; other stuff went for crazy money.

Audience Question 5: Can we get a heads up for a future auction?

Bob: There were a lot of people trying to buy cars ahead of time, and that's why there wasn't much notice. I will share information if the family is okay with that information coming out.

Audience Question 6: Does the family want to get rid of everything, including the buildings?

Bob: Yes, at some point in time. They're taking a break at the moment.

Fallsvew Rehabilitation & Nursing Center (Boonton Care Center)

On a cool & overcast Tuesday morning, June 20, 2023, Ann and I drove to the Boonton Care Center. When we arrived, several of our car hobbyists were already present, so we set ourselves up to sign in our members and reached out to Ms. Trish Wilz the Director of Recreation. The car display was from 12:00 noon until 3:00 PM, with lunch for the car owners prior to the residents viewing our vehicles. The NJ Region AACA members participating included: Mike Cilurso (1938 Chevrolet Master Deluxe coupe); Ray & Judy Fischer (1953 Chevrolet BelAir); Paul Wolfmeyer (1954 Chrysler Imperial); Manny Rein (1965 Chevrolet Corvette hardtop); Dick & Bobbi Bettie (1965 Lotus Elan convertible); Cliff Stern (1974 Triumph TR-6 convertible); Abe & Ann Platt (1988 Mercury Cougar LS Special Edition); and Raritan River Region Cadillac LaSalle Club member Doug Mathewson (1979 Cadillac Fleetwood Brougham sedan).

The Bettie's friends Chris & Joe Kuhl, also car hobbyists, stopped by to join us for lunch and enjoy the car show. At around 12:30, Trish informed us that the BBQ lunch was ready for us to enjoy, which we did. Both Trish and Chris (the chef) mentioned how much our visit meant to the residents and invited us to return next year. After having their lunch, the residents came down to the display area to enjoy our antique car display. The residents and the staff asked many questions, made tons of comments, and told us stories of their past experiences with their own cars. Many residents had their pictures taken in front of their favorite car(s). The flow of residents and staff continued for more than two hours and made for a very enjoyable afternoon.

The NJ Region received a donation check for our participation in today's event. Trish asked me to reach out to her to do this again, as the car show brightens the day of the residents. Please use the following url to see all of my pictures of this event:

Lantern Hill Independent Senior Living Community

June 29, 2023. Although the original date was cancelled due to smoke from the Canadian wildfires, today was no different. We ended up with fourteen NJ Region Members presenting eleven beautiful and different antique automobiles. We were provided with a variety of sandwiches, wraps, bottled water, and chips for lunch, dining The NJ Region AACA members participating included: Donald Davidson (1913 Ford Model T Touring); Sarah Stanley (1931 Ford Model A pick-up truck); Paul Wolfmeyer (1954 Chrysler Imperial 2-dr hardtop); Gayle & Bill Stroh (1956 Oldsmobile Holiday 88); Robert Rankin (1963 Series 62 Cadillac 2-dr hardtop); Richard Weingart (1965 Buick Electra convertible); Yvonne & Craig Kunz (1966 Oldsmobile F-85); Mickey Easse (1975 Pontiac Catalina 400); Roy Hardgrove (1976 Lincoln Continental Town Car; Jan Eyerman (1978 Ford Granada; and Ann & Abe Platt (1988 Mercury Cougar LS Special Edition). One of the highlights of this event was meeting Robert Teller, a NJ Region member since 1979. He sold his last antique car, a Packard, in 2022. I also met Shelley, a resident at Lantern Hill, who stopped in her tracks when she saw that the Ford Model A was built in 1931, the same year she was born. I asked her if she wanted her picture taken behind the wheel and she replied, absolutely. With Sarah's permission, Shelley quite literally hopped up into the cab and started to smile broadly as she sat behind the steering wheel. When Shelley's daughter arrived, she broke out in laughter on seeing her Mom in the pick-up truck. These encounters are why we do these events. The NJ Region will receive a donation check for our participation in today's event. A BIG THANK YOU to all the participants and especially to Ann for being my able assistant at all of these events. Please go to the Photo Galleries section of the NJ Region's website to see additional pictures of this event: <https://njregionaaca.com/photo-galleries/>.
